

Field Notes: A Journal of Collegiate Anthropology

Volume 13

Issue 1

May 2024

Cover Design by Ann S. Eberwein

Cover Image from Wikimedia Commons:

Graham, Joseph, Newman, William, and Stacy, John, 2008.

The geologic time spiral—A path to the past (ver. 1.1):

U.S. Geological Survey General

Information Product 58, poster, 1 sheet.

<http://pubs.usgs.gov/gip/2008/58/>

Field Notes:
A Journal of Collegiate Anthropology

Volume 13

Field Notes:
A Journal of Collegiate Anthropology

Volume 13

Number 1

May 2024

Published by the Anthropology Student Union (ASU) at the University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee, USA

Editor-in-Chief

Ann S. Eberwein

Editors

Crystal Morgan

Mat Sargent

Editorial Committee

Chawki Belhadi

Katie Cianciola

Allison L. Densmore

Dominic Greenlee

Amy Klemmer

Joey Lara

Nicholas Miller

Grace Pelisek

Allannah Ray

Alyssa Rieger

Josh Rivers

Katherine J. Santell

Rachel Strohl

Faculty Advisor

Bettina Arnold

Field Notes: A Journal of Collegiate Anthropology

University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee

Department of Anthropology

3413 N. Downer Ave.

Rm. 390 Sabin Hall

Milwaukee, WI 53211 USA

414.229.4175

fldnotes@uwm.edu

<https://dc.uwm.edu/fieldnotes/>

Table of Contents

About the Contributors	5
Articles
One Day at a Time , Four Decades Apart: An Analysis of the Doxic, Mimetic, and Diagnostic Performances in the Original and Rebooted Pilots of the Classic Norman Lear Show Katrina Frank, University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee	8
Juvenile Play Behavior in Cohabiting Captive Siamangs ( Symphalangus syndactylus ) and Orangutans ( Pongo abelii ) Jo Gansemer	14
Review Articles
Characteristic and Defining Markers of PCOS Chawki A. Belhadi, University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee	24
Current Debates
Folklore and Zooarchaeology: Nonhuman Animals' Representation in the Historical Narrative Nicholas Miller, University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee	40
Egyptianization: Tackling Faulty Narratives with Respect to Ancient Nubian and Ancient Egyptian Relationships Antony Schultz, University of Manchester	48
Book Reviews
Tales of Dionysus: The Dionysiaca of Nonnus of Panopolis Levitan and Lombardo editors. Ann Arbor, University of Michigan Press 2022 Dominic Greenlee, University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee	64

About the Contributors

Chawki A. Belhadi is a Ph.D. candidate in Biological Anthropology at the University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee. He holds, from the University of Texas at Arlington, a B.S. in Biology and Psychology, an M.S. in Experimental Psychology, and an M.A. in Sociology. His dissertation project, reflecting his commitment to advancing educational practices, focuses on critically analyzing teaching and learning methodologies in anthropology education. His research interests are varied and include evolutionary mismatch theory, evolutionary medicine, and monotropism. In his spare time, he likes to ponder, through the lens of neuroscientific findings, philosophical questions about the nature of reality, perception, and consciousness.

Katrina Frank has studied cultural anthropology for over seven years. She received a BA in Anthropology from Illinois State University and an MS in Anthropology from the University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee. As a Latina, she has always been passionate about Latinx/e studies and learning more about her culture. In her research, Katrina has found that media is one of the most common ways that people are exposed to new cultures and that learning about how cultures are represented can help us to understand how we view ourselves and others in our society.

Jo Gansemer recently received her MS in Anthropology from the University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee. She specializes in biological anthropology with a specific focus on primatology. Her interests are multi-disciplinary and include non-human primate behavior, hormones, ethnoprimateology, and conservation. Her graduate research analyzed the relationship between hair cortisol concentration and parity in South African vervet monkeys.

Dominic Greenlee is an archaeologist working for the University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee. Her current field placement is around the Great Lakes working with the Archaeological Research Laboratory Center. She received a BS in Forensic Science from UW-Platteville in 2015 and an MS in Anthropology from University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee in 2021. Her research interests include mortuary archaeology, sacred landscapes, witchcraft, Epics, and the oral record.

Nicholas Miller is a Ph.D. Candidate in "Multispecies History and Anthropology" at the University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee. His research combines ethnohistory, environmental anthropology, historical animal studies, and folkloristics. He has worked for the National Park Service, the National Endowment for the Humanities, multiple museums and archives, and is currently an AOP Fellow and lecturer.

Antony Schultz is currently pursuing an MA in Egyptology at the University of Manchester. He received his BA from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee where he double majored in Classics and Anthropology. He plans on doing his master's dissertation on Ancient Egyptian mallets, their make, use, and techniques. Following completion of his MA, he will pursue a Certificate in GIS at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. He participated in excavations at the Egyptian sites of Tell Timai and Mendes during the 2018 winter season. His research interest is in digital archaeology, including GIS and 3D programming, and their uses in visualizing Ancient Egyptian sites.

This volume of Field Notes is dedicated to
Joseph Patrick “Pat” Gray
(January 16, 1949 - February 15, 2022)

Professor Grey was a faculty member at University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee for 38 years and continued to teach anthropological statistics even after his retirement in 2020. He also served as graduate advisor for many years.

His teaching and guidance are missed.

Aims & Scope

Field Notes: A Journal of Collegiate Anthropology recognizes that the research conducted by students throughout the course of their education is a valuable resource. Our mission is to provide a publication platform for students of all disciplines who produce original academic writing that is anthropological in nature. The journal is reviewed, edited, and published entirely by students of anthropology. Field Notes was founded by UWM students in 2009 and is sponsored by the University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee’s Anthropology Student Union, a student-run, non-profit organization which serves the interests of UWM anthropology students and alumni.

Articles

One Day at a Time, Four Decades Apart: An Analysis of the Doxic, Mimetic, and Diagnostic Performances in the Original and Rebooted Pilots of the Classic Norman Lear Show
Katrina Frank, University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee

Juvenile Play Behavior in Cohabiting Captive Siamangs (Symphalangus syndactylus) and Orangutans (Pongo abelii)
Jo Gansemer

Review Articles

Characteristic and Defining Markers of PCOS
Chawki A. Belhadi, University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee

Current Debates

Folklore and Zooarchaeology: Nonhuman Animals’ Representation in the Historical Narrative
Nicholas Miller, University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee

Egyptianization: Tackling Faulty Narratives with Respect to Ancient Nubian and Ancient Egyptian Relationships
Antony Schultz, University of Manchester

Book Reviews

Tales of Dionysus: The Dionysiaca of Nonnus of Panopolis Levitan and Lombardo editors. Ann Arbor, University of Michigan Press 2022
Dominic Greenlee, University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee