

LAW SCHOOL NOTES:

Some Professors believe that one learns by working ———

Law School May Be Dangerous . . .

Despite the heavy reading requirements of the second half of any semester, many students and Faculty members have been huddled over a new book which is circulating briskly in the student commons and the Faculty tower.

It is the work of Patrick Shea, Class of 1976, entitled Warning: Law School may be Hazardous to Your Health, IF You Take it Seriously.

The book contains drawings of students and Faculty produced during Mr. Shea's three years as a law student.

Copies sell for $1 at the SBA Book Mart and the Gargoyle office. Mail orders accepted; add $0.25 for postage.

On April 15, the members of Law Review elected the following Board of Editors for 1976-77:

Editor-in-Chief	Jaroslawa Johnson—Middleton, WI
Managing Editors	Marilee Miller—Stevens Point, WI David Nelson—South Milwaukee, WI
Articles Editors	Michael Goldenberg—New Rochelle, NY David Rohrer—West Allis, WI
Research & Writing Editors	Jean Hanson—Babbitt, Minn. Lawrence Ransom—Madison, WI
Note & Comment Editors	Robert Buesing—Appleton, WI Phyllis DeCarvalho—Rumford, RI Andrew Gonring—West Bend, WI Charles Graupner—Spencer, WI Teresa Hennessy—Madison, WI Kirbie Knutson—Edina, Minn. Nancy Splain—Middleton, WI